

Any Old Place for Storage? No!

Pilots and crew chiefs, your avionics compartment isn't a storage area for survival kits, TMs, vests and other equipment. It's for avionics only.

Tossed vests, kits and TMs can break the delicate fuel probe wiring in the avionics compartment and give you a zero reading on the fuel indicator. That deadlines your aircraft.

Careless tossing can also damage COM-SEC components, SINGARS radios, UHF and VHF antenna communication boxes and their cables.

So never use your avionics compartment as a storage bin. When your maintenance task is done, return TMs to your pubs clerk and turn in ALSE equipment to the ALSE shop.
